

Project review - Banovallum School

Work on the final phase of refurbishment at Banovallum School Horncastle has been completed by Lincolnshire Architectural Glazing.

Banovallum School, a specialist science college, offers mixed secondary education and has undergone an extensive refurbishment programme including the internal and external refurbishment of an existing two-storey block, the creation of a new CDT building, extensions to the science laboratory and refurbishment of the dining and music areas.

Lincolnshire Architectural Glazing undertook the fabrication and installation of the over cladding and curtain walling as well as the windows and doors throughout the project, working closely with the school and main contractors to keep disruption to the daily routine of the school to a minimum as well as maintaining high levels of site safety and security at all time.
